FOX3, FOX3-3G and Gurtam, Wialon Tracking Platform,

FALCOM GmbH has recently established partnership with Gurtam, an international software development company that develops GPS tracking and fleet management software for a global market.

The two companies are closely cooperating to complete the integration of FALCOM's reliable hardware into Wialon tracking platform server, to offer their customers telematics solutions for different business processes.

Being one of the leading GPS-tracking solutions providers, Gurtam longs for cooperation with high-quality hardware providers. In view of several FALCOM devices already integrated with Wialon system and the advanced functionality of new FOX3 & FOX3-3G devices we expect faster business development for both our companies through closer cooperation. It means that our clients will soon be able to try FALCOM + Wialon cluster under special conditions if the specified number of units is connected.
